

DOG IS EXILED BY ROOSEVELT.
Pete, Archie's Pet, Once in High Society, Proves Too Pugnacious.

Washington, July 27.—Pete, Archie Roosevelt's pet bulldog, has been banished for keeps. The President commuted death sentence at the request of Archie to exile for life and Pete, has moved fast in diplomatic on other official society in Washington, never again will rule supreme over the lawn at the White House.

Strange enough Pete got along fairly well with the common folks. As long as he confine his attention to high society, and was satisfied to chase members of the President's lawn tennis cabinet and take a bite or two of a foreign minister's leg, he got along all right. But other day a well-to-do linenman from a telegraph company had occasion to enter the yard where Pete was confined during the absence of Complaint was made and the President sent one of the White House attaches to Washington for the dog. With bowed head, securely muzzled, Pete, who treated the French ambassador and who had other distinguished services, was carried from Washington into perpetual exile.

The officials will not disclose his place of banishment, but report that Pete never again will frisk over the White House lawn.

WILL ISSUE WRIT OR INJUNCTION

Amayo Ave. Business Men will Spend $600 to get their Rights.

The business men of Namayo avenue are not content to accept the city council's explanation of the reason for stopping the paving work on that street, while the paving on the adjacent street is being continued beyond the point for which it was authorized, and for which a by-law was passed. The sum of $5000 has been subscribed and will be used in meeting the claims of the residents on Namayo avenue. It has not yet been decided whether an injunction will be issued to stop the work on the adjacent street, or a suit for damages for the non-completion of the work on Namayo avenue.

Mr. G. S. Armstrong, who is secretary of the business men interested in this question, stated this morning to test the legality of the diversion of the work of street paving from Namaso avenue to the northern part of McDougall avenue. A solicitor has been retained.

The business men claim that the diversion is illegal, as not being in accordance with the provisions of by-law No. 89. It is further claimed that when that by-law was passed, the idea of the street railway in connection with the paving was an important consideration, and, that when a vote was taken, it was taken with street right away in view, with the tion of a pavement up Mc-Dougall street to Elizabeth street to connect the business portion with the post office. The Namayo avenue residents claim that before the work could be diverted from the streets specifically mentioned, being Jasper avenue from Kinistino to Ninth; Na-mayo avenue from Jasper street to Fourth; McDougall avenue from College to Elizabeth, and First street from Jasper to Isabella, it was necessary that the council should find it pendent the work upon any of said streets, Jasper avenue, Naylor avenue, McDonnell avenue and East street, be stopped, and that the completed portion of the work done on other streets within the city limits.

"They claim also that the council have not by any resolution or otherwise, "found it expedient to stop the work upon any of the said streets" and that is a condition precedent to transfer of the work to other streets. They claim that the other streets referred to are streets other than those specifically above men-and, and other than Jasper avenue, Naimyo avenue, McDougall avenue and First streets, the idea being that in case of a change in the location of the street, the street should be a street that should necessarily be made from these streets to some other. They also state that the street is in a wide unit for traffic. The engineers in their report to the council some time ago was to effect that the change was made. The desire for retrenchment, and the desire for retrenchment, and the desire for retrenchment, have reported to them that the street of McDougall street over and above that specifically allowed by the law is greater, and the street in less

They also seem to think that this very doubtful whether the residents of McDougall avenue, north of Ellis, feel themselves bound to pay a frontage tax for this pavement on called upon, not only for the pavement, but also for the improperly lowered from Nansay avenue, because on their portion of street, but used it is one of the principles of taxation in the charter of the city of Houston that a bylaw providing for taxation must be voted on. When a bylaw, presuming to be in special nature, was voted on, it was not adopted then that they were the only one of the city.

Hon. Frank Oliver, minister of the interior, arrived in the city yesterday and will remain for some days, prior to proceeding to British Columbia, where he goes to secure information regarding Dominion lands in that province. Before going back to Ottawa he will visit various immigrants.

Canadians Holding Its Own. The second reason for this: There are no more Mexicans in Texas. The Mexicans here are those who have come from the states that have since lost the money earned on the sale of their farms in a great depression. They are scattered all over the place. The lure of the 100 free acres was a strong one. Now, however, the Mexicans who have taken advantage of this, and are now the ran-holders of Texas are all here. They are the ones who are worth the advertisement that they can have. They are the ones who are worth the advertisement that they can have. They are the ones who are worth the advertisement that they can have.

The third reason is caused by the recent legislation which enforced two round cuts in many of the enterprises. The government has decided that if they can't get the money to pay for the transportation for anything less than that price, and consequently that has been the case. The government has to be the Canadian boss. In the last year, the government has cut 20 per cent has not been passed. So you still have sharp decreases in the price of the goods. So you see that we are getting hit all around. We are not getting any help from the government. We are holding our own as well as we are with this three-fold loss of income. The government has no prospects more encouraging, and any way we will have to be patient.

As to the crop,

His Trip Through the States.
 After relating his recent trip through the United States, the American States where he visited Canadian immigration agents in order to secure the information which was applied by the American immigration authorities to the immigration questions, the most important of which has to do with the refusal to issue visas to persons coming to the country, and which Canada will have to meet in the near future.

HOTEL LICENSE RENEWED.
At a meeting of the license commissioners this morning the application of Robert MacFarlane, of the Hotel Watkinson, Grand Forks, for a renewal of the license to the Hotel Watkinson, was granted. It is the intention of the president, John Richard Second, to make large improvements to the present building.

SACRED BAND CONCERT.
The first sacred concert given by the city band last night in the Thistle Rink was a decided success. About 1,000 people were present and formed a thoroughly appreciative audience, and it expressed its satisfaction by the heartiest applause.

to adopt the stringent rules for the admission of immigrants that the United States has done, but, on the contrary, that we should permit an open door policy to prevail on account of the kindness of our territory for the small population which we have at present.

Notwithstanding the congestion in York City and vicinity, caused by the constant stream of newcomers, is a constant factor in the social conditions of the states for European labor. In fact demands for at least seven cents have become so insistent that rates for the equitable distribution of immigrants have already been established at Charleston, Galveston and New Orleans.

have also had considerable success in several years past in getting men to emigrate from Canada to the fur-bearing states, and this stream of life flows on in our direction, though in volume it has been slightly diminished this year. There are three ones for this.

The first reason is the unwonted

UNDER SALVATION ARMY AUSPICES

No More Large Parties of Settlers Will be Brought Out This Season.

Winnipeg, July 27.—No more large parties of immigrants sent out by the Salvation Army will arrive in the west this season. This, however, does not signify that no more immigrants in charge of the army will cross the Atlantic this year, as many of those who are to take up their residence in the west and who are to arrive in the course of the next two months will be those who have been prepared by the army agents, in the old country.

Major Creighton, who is in charge of the army immigration work in the west, is especially pleased with the results of the work this year. All the immigrants which could at all be secured were brought into service by the army and to their efforts in their civilization schemes is due the fact that many thousands of the most desirable class of industrial settlers have found their way to the west and have taken up the settlement of lands in the western province.

Major Creighton is taking pains to warn the agents against sending out any more of the kind of immigrants which are the cause of the obtaining of large positions in the civilization schemes is due the fact that many thousands of the most desirable class of industrial settlers have found their way to the west and have taken up the settlement of lands in the western province.

The opportunities for engaging in the work of the army are, however, as great as ever, and the army will be much greater when the harvest opens. A number of army immigrants will arrive on the next boat which arrives, although the army is not one of those which has been especially charged.
